

Accidents in the Workplace

Employers' Accident Advisory Helpline

There are new changes to Corporate Manslaughter and Coroner laws relating to Coroner Inquests. As an employer, it is now more important than ever to have access to the best advice needed. We can help!

Accidents in the workplace leading to injury, and in some cases death, are unfortunately an inevitable part of running Care and Supported Housing Schemes. We have a free emergency advice line which is answered by experienced solicitors who specialise in dealing with these investigations.

Employers' Accident Advisory Helpline

0800 970 1281

www.devonshires.com

Salisbury House, London Wall, London EC2M 5QY

Employers' Accident Advisory Helpline

0800 970 1281

We advise clients on numerous investigations involving the Police, The Health and Safety Executive and the Coroner. Our extensive experience in this field includes:

Arson Attacks;

Fires caused by sprinkler systems failing;

Boiler malfunctions;

Building collapses;

Explosions in the workplace;

Car crashes and other motor vehicle incidents;

Suicides in Care and Supported Housing facilities;

Other deaths and injuries in the workplace; and

Advice to TV companies on legal issues that come with filming sporting events that could potentially lead to injury or death.

For further information on this or to discuss your legal needs please contact:

Philip Barden, Partner

philip.barden@devonshires.co.uk

t: 020 7880 4280

Jonathan Hulley, Partner

jonathan.hulley@devonshires.co.uk

020 7880 4308